Mary Jayne Breeden Council Center

Cost $5.00

Troop Committee Challenge Training introduces you to everything you need to know. It won't answer every single question you have, but it's a great start. Running a Scouts BSA Troop is a little like running a business: there's a budget and a calendar, there's money coming in (fundraising and dues), there's money going out (activities, equipment purchases, registration fees), there's a "workforce" (your fellow adult volunteers), and there are goals and evaluation of whether you reached those goals. And, of course, you're doing all this within the unique context of Scouting with some special rules and requirements. Why would you try and do all this without some kind of training?

What do you need to bring to the training sessions?

While not required, it is recommended you bring a copy of the Troop Committee Guidebook to the class. Also, bring writing materials. You might want a binder or folder; so that you can keep the notes and handouts from these and other training sessions all in one place.
